Dear Friends,

2018 has been a remarkable year for NW Children’s Foundation! In this report, we are thrilled to share some of NWCF’s highlights from the fiscal year, which ended July 31, 2018, and to express our appreciation of the many, many people whose generosity fueled these accomplishments.

In the third year of its current strategic growth plan, NWCF began to see the tangible results of our growth efforts and their impact on our community’s children and families. As you’ll see from the list at right, we invested our largest amount ever in grants and had record participation in our outreach events.

Beyond these terrific numbers, however, we are most proud of our role in catalyzing and supporting community-level improvements in child welfare. Research has underscored the dire long-term impacts of unaddressed childhood trauma – but it also continues to identify more effective ways to intervene. It is more important than ever – and more possible – to work collectively to help children and families now so that the next generation does not suffer the same trauma all over again.

NWCF’s outreach brings together a broad spectrum of sectors – nonprofit service providers, researchers, policy makers, medical and legal professionals, educators and more – for cutting-edge research and training on how best to help children of trauma. This both sparks crucial collaborations and concretely improves the quality of services available to children and families in our area. Forum attendees this year indicated in survey responses that tens of thousands of families directly benefitted from the learning they received that day!

We hope you are proud of your role in this work, and excited about continuing the journey with us in the coming year.

With immense gratitude,

Victoria, Will and Elizabeth
A Remarkable Year

NW Children’s Foundation
2018 Highlights

- NW Children’s Foundation strategically invested ONE MILLION dollars in grants (hitting this landmark two years ahead of strategic plan) in critical programs aimed at ending the intergenerational cycle of child abuse and neglect.

- Our first-ever $100,000 Evergreen Grants were awarded to Northwest Immigrant Rights Project and King County Sexual Assault Resource Center, in recognition of the consistently demonstrated high impact, effectiveness and merit of their programs.

- More than 630 child-welfare stakeholders attended the 2018 NWCF Forum on Infant and Early Childhood Trauma at the Washington State Convention Center, making it NWCF’s largest event ever.

- The Forum was our first webstreamed event, which expanded its reach to 116 communities in 21 states and two foreign countries.

- NWCF partnered with The Seattle Public Library to present a community screening of the film Resilience – the Biology of Stress & the Science of Hope, followed by a panel discussion. In all, NWCF’s educational outreach events had a cumulative total of more than 1,100 participants last year.

- All of these accomplishments were made possible by the generosity of a growing community of NWCF partners, including approximately 1,500 individual donors and volunteers, and hundreds of businesses, foundations and nonprofits.

- Last but not least, this year we became NW Children’s Foundation! Changing our name from Fund to Foundation better reflects the expanded scope of NWCF’s programs, leadership and impact in the community.
2018 by the Numbers

Thanks to your generosity, we were able to expand outreach and grants impacting critical points in the cycle of child abuse and neglect.
